

Judgments of Intellectual Property High Court, Third Division

Date of Judgment: 2005.7.20

Case Number: 2005 (Ne) No.10068

Title:

The configuration of the plaintiff's good (steps for use in manholes) is a technically necessary and common configuration. As the defendant's good at the point-of-sale was not well known enough [among consumers] to cause discrimination on the basis of origin, this case does not correspond to "goods or other indications" under the Unfair Competition Prevention Law Article 2(1) (i).

Related Provisions:

Unfair Competition Prevention Law Article 2(1) (i)

(The copyright for this English material was assigned to the Supreme Court of Japan by Institute of Intellectual Property.)